Bro. Ed's Epistle - "And sending away the crowds, Jesus got into the boat and came to the region of Magadan." Matthew 15:39

The significance of Jesus sending away the crowds and going by boat to another region should not be overlooked. I think He was attempting to get his disciples away from the business of ministry so they could have some rest, and some time for reflection--a vacation if you please. Many times we feel guilty for taking time for ourselves and our families. Jesus' example should encourage us to take the time away that He provides. It was during this rest time that Peter made his greatest declaration of faith: "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God". As you take some time away this summer, I urge you to reflect on Jesus and His word so that He can speak to you in fresh ways. I thank God for you and pray for you often.

Thank you so much for your memorial to Bro. Duke.

I know how much you loved him, as we did. He was a great man of God.

HARRY'S HEARTBEAT – Since Bro. Duke was the primary person responsible for me beginning Harry's Heartbeat, I would like to dedicate the next article to him.

"My Dear People,

A devastating earthquake measured at 8.2 on the Richter Scale, shook Armenia as never before.

Little Armand's dad had always promised him that no matter what, he would always be there for him. Armand trotted up the sidewalk into the small school building.

The earthquake leveled the school and officials assumed there were no survivors.

Armand's father rushed to the scene and began digging in the vicinity of his son's classroom in the northwest corner of the building.

The local fire-chief put his hand on the shoulder of the sobbing dad, only to be ignored and brushed aside.

Armand's father dug feverishly with only his hands for 38 hours – then detected a whimper.

He removed the debris and there in a crawl space, wedged between two slabs of concrete was Armand's dirty little face.

Armand shouted, "I told the others not to be afraid. My father said he would always be there for me."

Armand sent the others out first.

He looked at his father and confidently said "I knew you'd never give up."

Our Lord's promises and purposes are sure, you can count on Him.

Sunday morning I plan to introduce to you "A man of Purpose" Be there.

God is so good,
 Brother Buck"
