Bro. Ed's Epistle - "Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good." Romans 13:21

Paul's admonition is given in the context of Christians being persecuted, and the proper response to all kinds of evil. How does good overcome evil? First, Paul expects human government to promote the cause of good. While individual Christians are not to execute vengeance, it is the proper function of government to do whatever is necessary to destroy evil and protect its citizens. Next, Paul instructs us as individuals to practice our faith boldly in the face of evil. We are to love without hypocrisy, serve the Lord continually, rejoice in hope, persevere in tribulation, be devoted to prayer, give generously to the saints, practice hospitality and give blessings instead of curses. It is a difficult assignment, but one that is necessary if good is to triumph over evil.

I thank God for you and pray that we all will persevere to the end. I look forward to worship and fellowship with you this week.

HARRY'S HEARTBEAT - Due to some uninvited guest a couple of years ago I had a motion light and alarm system installed in my workshops. So far they both work great, in fact, maybe too great. The light is directed toward the house. The head of my bed is right under the window closest to the light. Being a light sleeper, many times when the light comes on it wakes me up. It is so sensitive that any movement in its coverage area turns it on; the wind blowing an object around in the yard or the pack of dogs that come through my yard a couple of times each night. Most of the time, I just ignore it and go back to sleep. But, occasionally, I'll pay attention and get up and look.

Always looking for an object lesson, I wondered if this could not be an example of God's Holy Spirit who dwells within me? Anytime anything attempts to come in to God's boundaries in my life, the Holy Spirit tries to awaken me, I am afraid that like the light, most of the time I ignore it's quickening and go right back to what I was doing. I wonder what my life could have been like if I had heeded Him more. I probably could have avoided a whole lot of misery. (Rom 8:11)

See you Wednesday Night and Sunday. God is Good! Look up!
 I love you, Harry.
